

Do you often work with the group function in ACT!? Then increase the ability of the group function with GroupIT. Especially in the field of marketing GroupIT is very helpful.

With just one click you can now include or exclude groups in a search. Similarly, the included search function “and” and “or” simplifies your search. This way, the search function can be used for groups as well as for companies.

Furthermore GroupIT searches through several groups without finding multiple entries. This advanced search application program allows to find the favorite contact efficient and without duplicates.

All static and dynamic groups of a contact will be shown in an additional tab of the contact view.

In doing so you can edit the group assignments in a simple and fast way through the context settings.
